And now to some fun facts!

Many Thanks!

Danes have a special word called “hygge”

The word “hygge” is unique to the Danish language. It means relaxing and enjoying yourself in your own company or together with others.

And when we “hygger os”, we for instance like to eat salty licorice

So consider yourself warned if you ever decide share a candy bowl with a local Dane.

But we also like to “hygge os” outside

Especially in the summertime where it’s quite convenient, that you’re never far from the sea. Actually you will be under 1 hour away from the sea by car from any point in Denmark.

In many cases, we would choose our bike instead of the car. Why?

Our highest mountain is only 170, 8 metres high. Denmark is very flat making it easy to explore by bike especially in Aarhus. (And yes, we call it a mountain..)

Oh and while you’re out there exploring the country, it’s probably good to know now, that we don’t have a word for “please” in Danish

But we use “tak”, meaning thank you, a lot instead

And about that. We like to put “tak” into pluralism

That’s why we say “mange tak”, translated to “many thanks”, whenever someone helps us out in some way.

We can’t wait to share much more insights about the Danes with you!
