tourism

Campania Region and Southern Part of Italy represent the one-off aspect from a tourist point of view.

One of the places with a bigger focus of goods that are believed to be Unesco Heritage - material goods such as the Historic District of Naples; the archaeological areas of Pompeii, Herculaneum and Torre Annunziata (Oplontis); XIX Century Palazzo Reale of Caserta with the park, the Vanvitelliano water-main and Saint Leucio Complex; the National Park of Cilento and Vallo di Diano with Paestum archaeological sites and Velia and Certosa di Padula, the Amalfi Coast, the stones of Matera (i Sassi di Matera) – and the immaterial ones such as the Mediterranean Diet and Pizza Makers' art. A land that is full of traditions, colours, history and archaeological goods, that is perfect for anyone who would deepen his/her own interest and the professionalism in the tourist sector. The greatest preconditions allowed the development of both a business micro and macro fabric of the utmost importance and in its setting it is possible make job shadowing experiences in one of the most famous districts that are both Italian and European. It's not only for the architectural beauties but also for the entertainment, the fashion, food and wine and the cultural events that live up a beautiful piece of Italy.
